1. An internal combustion engine, developing 200 HP, was prepared on orders of the Main Administration of the German Seepolizei (Sea Police) by Chief Engineer Hagans, (fmu), and some ex-engineers of the former German Navy at the Hagans Light Metal Casting Firm in Erfurt. The designing work started in the fall of 1950 and was completed in late January 1951.
2. An order for 60 engines of this type was placed with the machine factory of Buckau-Wolf in Magdeburg.
3. These engines were designed for a new type PT boat with an over-all length of 24 meters. *

25X1A

  Comment. The Hagans Firm, Erfurt, has not been known to date. Judging from the horsepower of the engine it seems improbable that they should be intended for PT boats. They are possibly designed for motor minesweepers of the Sea Police.
